THE CONEHEDS? Not quite. It's the Glades Day Gator football team, minus hair. The team decided if they won their first three games, the hair would get the axe. If the Gators win this week's bout with Benjamin, the coaches have vowed to shave their heads, with a little help.

Gorbage:

Pahokee may turn it over to Rapid Rail Co.

By WAYNE WALLACE
Pahokee City councilmen Monday night agreed to draft a contract transferring the city's garbage disposal system to Hollywood-based Automated Systems (AS).

"You've got to eliminate the politicians from the garbage," AS vice-president Paul Baker told the council. "An independent company will help upgrade the system."

The contract, still subject to final approval, will contain a loophole enabling the city to retain possession of trucks and other equipment should the contract be cancelled.

Pahokee disposal was contracted to AS five years ago, but according to council chairman Billy McKinstry, service was not satisfactory. "We don't want to get stuck again," he said.

Baker said the Pahokee system, the first initiated by AS, had given the company a "black eye" because of a lack of maintenance and out-dated equipment caused the system to collapse.

"We almost lost the Fort Pierce contract because people were coming over here and looking at our operation in Pahokee," Baker said. If AS were given the contract the residential collection rates would remain at six dollars per month, Baker said. However because of the upcoming increase in disposal transfer cost, commercial collection rates will be billed by bulk and rise from fifty cents a yard (110 pounds) to approximately $2.75 a yard, he added.

"We're going to have to transport Pahokee garbage to Belle Glade and that's going to cost about fifteen times more and the difference is going to have to be made up in the commercial rates," Baker said. "If we don't the residential will be subsidizing the commercial."

If AS is given the disposal contract, the Pahokee incinerator will also be included.

Although it would cost an estimated $45,000 to make the machine operable, Baker said it may be necessary to burn the garbage if the round-trip to Belle Glade becomes too expensive, Baker said.

A review of the city's disposal bill exemption policy would be in order also, Baker said. "We can't give away too many freebies and the city is losing a lot of money on that policy."

Although the contract has not yet been drafted McKinstry said he feels it will pass. "I think we're going to get this garbage thing out of our hair for good," he said.

'Chief Charley' on commission, Altman is Belle Glade mayor

BELLE GLADE — City Commissioner Tom Altman was chosen by his fellow commissioners this morning to serve his third one-year term as mayor of the city and Commissioner Randy Davidson was named vice mayor in the commission's annual organizational meeting.

The meeting, which was put off until this morning to coincide with the first day of the city's fiscal and business year, also saw former Public Safety Director and Police Chief Charles Goodlett sworn in as a commissioner.

Goodlett defeated incumbent commissioner Ralph Kirk in the Sept. 9 city election, ending Kirk's ten year tenure in office.

Vice mayor Claude Tindall chaired the reorganizational meeting in the absence of Kirk, whose last day of office was Tuesday.

Davidson moved to name Altman mayor and Goodlett seconded the vote, which was 5-0. Goodlett nominated Davidson vice-mayor, with Altman seconding the nomination. Davidson was elected on a 4-1 vote, with Commissioner Dorothy Walker voting against him.

Altman nominated Goodlett as the city treasurer. Miss Walker seconded the motion and he was elected, 5-0. In the last order of reorganizational business, John Baker was re-named the city attorney.

In another piece of business, the commissioners approved a motion by Miss Walker to invite Professor William Larson of Florida Atlantic University to provide input on criteria to be used in selection of a city manager to replace former Manager Robert Sanders.

Miss Walker said Larson is a professor of public administration and is recognized as an expert in the field. She said he recently chaired a committee in Boca Raton on the selection of a manager there and has himself served on the Boca Raton city commission. No date was set for the meeting.

The commissioners individually interviewed former City Manager William Mallory Monday for the position but Mallory left town Tuesday with no decision made.

Mallory and Altman said the primary obstacle to re-hiring Mallory is to see if there is some way he could continue operating his own consulting firm in Aberdeen, Miss. while serving as city manager here.

The commissioners said they believe to be accurate and the reason they're upset is Brisson's estimate that the city stands to lose $60 this year for each resident not counted by the census.

Brisson said he had been on the telephone for an hour and a half Monday with a census bureau spokesman in Atlanta and came away with the feeling a survey he had proposed two weeks ago to the city may not produce enough additional residents to make it worthwhile.

He said part of the reason for the low count is that when the census enumerators were checking homes which had received census forms and not returned them, if a person was found at home, he was asked the question, "Is this your usual resident?"

If the person said it wasn't, then Belle Glade wasn't counted as the resident's permanent residence.

He went on to say that if the enumerator found no one home, a second visit was made and if no one was home then, the house was counted as vacant. Brisson said the vacancy rates in Belle Glade reached as high as 17 per cent in some areas. The average rate for the city was listed as 15.4 per cent.

Commissioner Tom Altman asked if the city couldn't use such devices as checking past water and electric bills to determine if a house or apartment were occupied and Brisson said he didn't believe that would work because even if someone were paying a bill for April 1, the census bureau wouldn't automatically assume the occupant was a permanent resident.

Altman also questioned the methods used by the census bureau, asking Brisson if the two visits by the enumerators were made at the same time of day, for instance, noting if a person were gone from home at 10 a.m. on the first visit, it could be considered likely he would be gone at 10 a.m. on the second visit.

Brisson said he didn't know for sure but he assumed the census bureau took that into account when making the second check.

Altman also asked what happened when a homeowner didn't receive a census form in the mail in the first place on the April 1 mailing.

Brisson said he understood the enumerators made their checks of homes from which no forms had been returned. He said he didn't know what the case would be if census forms hadn't been mailed in the first place. Brisson said he was already familiar with several people who hadn't received the forms at all.

"I question the methodology of the census," Altman said. "The methodology may work fine for the average community but Belle Glade isn't the average community."

"I think what you'll find," Brisson said, "is that if a person wants to be counted on the census, he'll be counted. If he doesn't want to be counted, he won't."

Brisson went on to warn that a popular misconception is that the census bureau assumes the 1970 census was correct. He said this isn't the case, that the bureau started all over again with the 1980 census without assuming the

City challenge of 1980 census is in the offing

BELLE GLADE — City Commissioners Monday night approved a survey of the city and directed City Attorney John Baker to begin investigating the possibility of using the survey in court to demand adjustment of the city's census figures.

The commissioners approved the survey, although Adley and Associates Bill Brisson said this was one project he isn't enthusiastic about because he doesn't believe the survey can be used to increase the city's official population figures by more than 800 people.

Baker recommended the survey, however, if the commission intends to take the Bureau of the Census to court. He said he would need something to show the court, whether it is acceptable to the census bureau or not, in order to get a judge to listen to the city's argument.

Brisson said the primary problem is one of definitions and reflects the census bureau's philosophy about what defines a permanent resident and how far the bureau would go to try to determine whether a person was a permanent resident of the city.

The problem the commissioners see, however, is how many of those permanent residents there are in the city.

According to the 1970 census, 15,949 people made their permanent homes in Belle Glade, a figure the Area Planning Board said has risen to an estimated 17,670 by this year.

According to the first figures released by the census bureau, Belle Glade's population is only 11,740, a figure increased to 13,237 after City Planner Joe Fay objected to various figures used.

The number is still well below what the commissioners say they believe to be accurate and the reason they're upset is Brisson's estimate that the city stands to lose $60 this year for each resident not counted by the census.

Brisson said he had been on the telephone for an hour and a half Monday with a census bureau spokesman in Atlanta and came away with the feeling a survey he had proposed two weeks ago to the city may not produce enough additional residents to make it worthwhile.

New housing plan seen

By Dean Jones

BELLE GLADE — The city commission decided Monday night to make a start on a new plan to find housing for an estimated 200 people who otherwise have none.

The plan, which is still rough and won't be implemented earlier than the 1981-82 fiscal year, was presented by Community Development Director Remar Harvin and involves relocating 20 mobile homes to make space for apartment buildings.

Harvin said he believes the city, through the Community Development Program, can provide financial assistance to the owners of 20 mobile homes in a two block area between Southwest Sixth and Eighth Streets and Southwest Avenue C and Southwest Avenue C Place.

With that assistance, Harvin said the mobile homes could be moved to one or more mobile home parks, where they should be anyway, and make space for at least 60 new apartment units.

He said he believes most, if not all, of the mobile homes are owned by their inhabitants while most, if not all, of the land they occupy is owned by a single landowner who rents the space to the occupants.

Most of the lots on which the trailers stand, Harvin said, are 30 feet wide by 80 feet deep and can't be used for any CBS dwelling without either combining two or more lots or getting variances.

On a 30x80 lot, the largest dwelling possible, considering the mandatory 25 foot setback in front, a combined setback of 15 feet on the sides and 15 feet in the rear, is 600 square feet while the minimum size of a single family resident allowed under the city code is 760 square feet.

Harvin said after the meeting that the key is to entice a private developer to erect apartment buildings with no association with federal funding

CRACKER

BY DEAN JONES

That pesky census, and the bureaucrats who decided they'd save time and money by trying to do it through the mail, just may soon be getting under the skin of Washington politics if a Detroit judge has anything to say about it.

It's not that bureaucrats are bad people...at least not intentionally. It's just that if you add two bureaucrats, you have to square their stupidity quotient, you can't just add it. Put together three in one place and you have to cube their SQ. That's the way they go. Still, it must've taken a heck of a lot of bureaucrats, though, to come up with the idea of trying to count all the knotholes in this country through the mail.

In the first place, you'd have to figure that everybody in the U.S. of A. has a mailbox. Then, you'd have to assume that they'd all want to cooperate and do the Bureau of the Census' job for it, and then you'd have to assume they all know how to read and write. And you know that they make when you assume.

And even then, you'd think that if they're gonna have to go through the mail, and I don't believe they had to, you'd think they'd have smart enough to simply do a blanket mailing and they didn't do that.

I guess they figured that if they did a blanket mailing, they'd waste some money because they'd get some overlap...such as with people who receive mail at home and wherever they happen to work.

One thing about it, the overlap wouldn't have been as costly as sending out enumerators to count the people who didn't receive and return the census forms.

A second thing about it, if they'd had that overlap, they wouldn't have had to worry about people who don't get mail at home; who've decided they'd rather receive mail at a Post Office box or through the office.

Well, I'm not like most people. I don't mind telling someone, "I told you so," and I've been telling the census bureau so ever since April 1. They obviously haven't been listening because they didn't send me a census form through the second mailing and so far as I know, an enumerator has never been by my trailer.

Matter of fact, some enumerators were seen in the trailer park where I live but the lady who manages the park said none of 'em ever asked her about me. Matter of fact, they never bothered to talk to her and you'd think she'd be the first one someone would talk to if they were trying to locate someone who supposedly lived in the park.

As a matter of fact, not only did they not bother talking to her, they never counted her or her family either.

There had to have been a heck of a lot of bureaucrats in on this job to accumulate all that stupidity and now those bureaucrats are yelling in anguish over the finding of U.S. District Judge Horace W. Gilmore in Detroit that the Census Bureau didn't do its job there, mainly because of what that finding can mean in other cities...like Belle Glade, South Bay and Pahokee.

Well, if they're in anguish, it's only turn about and fair play. They've sure caused cities and states a lot of anguish by not doing their job.

I've got an idea I'd like to get to Judge Gilmore that would probably increase the anguish of the bureaucrats. What he oughta do is to assess fines, personally, from every top bureaucrat in the Census Bureau, down to the state level at least and preferably to the county level, in the amount of their salaries for as long as they were on the job. That's only fair since they didn't do their job and the pitifully small amount that would bring the national treasury the seed money, perhaps, to start all over again with a head count.

And this time, they could forget about all that ridiculous information they required by law on the first one and make the head count just that; asking for everyone's name, age, sex, race, and address. They want any more information, they could pick it up during one of mini-counts.

Raisin' cane

When I was first asked to write a column I envisioned myself as another Jimmy Olsen, aggressive cub reporter, destined to follow the well trodden footsteps of Jack Anderson and Art Buchwald.

But my journalistic fantasies quickly collapsed as I sat down to sift through some of the "raw meat" I had conjured from the dark abysses of my mind.

Dear Abby, I thought, I would become an advice columnist. I could quote dozens of timely maxims from the Farmers Almanac and tell "Confidential in Pahokee" where to go.

But anyone can give advice. I wanted a challenge. And what could be more of a challenge than a recipe column? Immediately I set about listing "Waynes Mysteriously Delicious Recipes." I got as far as number three. The first two were my own combinations of Hamburger Helper and the third gave meticulous directions to Dino's Pizza (in case the first two failed).

At this point I came to a major career decision. I would rather eat food than write about it.

After a snack and a quick glance around my apartment I knew I had found the answer. A Helpful Hints column. But the typewriter paper remained blank as I tried to think of even one "hint" that with a little puffery could expand to fill a column. "Put a brick in your toilet tank to save water" was my best effort.

Scratch helpful hints.

Auto Mechanics? No go. Changing tires, oil and spark plugs 52 different ways is not my idea of a diverse, informing column.

Child-rearing Erma Bombeck style? Forget it. I've got a dachshund and a parakeet that are kind of troublesome at times but they never leave the water hose running or the freezer door open.

Maybe I should write about something I know about. I could make profound statements about Carter's foreign policy, capital punishment or nuclear energy, but what's that got to do with the price of sugar in Belle Glade?

No, I think I'll write about people. People and places. I know something about people. I have lived around them all my life. And each one is a diverse and informing column. And naturally the places; Belle Glade, South Bay, Pahokee and everywhere in between, are an integral part of the people.

Property owners angry over proposed millage tax rate increase

By Alma Henry

PAHOKEE— Angry Property owners in Pahokee over the 8.0 millage rate increase proposed by the Pahokee City Council told Council Chairman Billy McKinstry and the Council at a public hearing Monday they would rather see an increase in the garbage service charges than be faced with a 75 percent increase of last year's millage rate.

Mrs. Joe Hatten told the council she is concerned with the "quality of life in Pahokee."

"There is not enough property owners in Pahokee to pay for the cost of operating the city and if the millage rate goes up, it would be hard selling property inside the city of Pahokee," she said.

The Council trying to find necessary funds to offset the loss of approximately $70,000 in state funds, and the cost of inflation, several weeks ago suggested a millage rate as high as 9.5, a doubling of this year's millage tax rate, and increases in both garbage and water rates.

The Council at first approved a filing of a maximum millage rate of 9.5 with county property appraiser David Reid, as compared with this year's 4.950 rate.

Because the Council has not adopted the coming year's budget and the City is unsure as to whether or not it will be receiving revenue sharing funds, several weeks ago planned to file the estimated 9.5 millage rate.

City Clerk Betty McCoy said the city could not go over the rate, but could adopt an assessment rate below that amount once it was filed.

After making more cuts in the Pahokee proposed budget last Wednesday, the Council agreed to file the millage assessment at 8.0 instead of 9.5.

Although the Council chairman tried to explain to approximately 25 property owners in Pahokee of the necessity to increase the millage rate; the property owners left Monday's meeting, feeling a 75 percent millage rate increase was not the answer.

Citing the cost of the future garbage disposal cost, McKinstry said the county is going to close the city garbage dump on Oct. 1 and the Soil Waste Authority is forcing Pahokee to transport their garbage to Belle Glade to the Authority's transfer station, presently under construction and the project cost is at $15 per ton. "The cost to transport Pahokee's garbage will double," he said.

McKinstry said funds are needed to meet that cost increase, and the approximately $50,000 funds generated by the proposed millage increase, along with some staff cutbacks have been made to generate the additional funds.

Mrs. Linda Moss, a property owner in Pahokee said her taxes will double and she is sure more people would rather pay two dollars more per month in garbage rates than have their tax doubled.

"If everybody receiving garbage and trash services would pay the two dollar increase the entire city would participate in the increase of cost to pick up garbage," she said.

"If only the increased millage rate is assessed only property owners will be paying for the increase in cost to pick up the garbage and that's not fair to the property owner," she added.

Att. Michael Stauder, the city attorney said the city is also threatened with a decrease of money from property taxes if voters approve the proposed increase in Homestead exemptions in October.

In an Oct. 7 referendum voters will decide whether the present $5,000 Homestead exemption will be raised to $15,000 with two subsequent annual raises to $20,000 and $25,000.

The city clerk also read a letter to the property owners from the property appraiser office stating one of the tax increases listed on their tax statements was a misprint.

"Constituents in the Pahokee area are not paying library tax, and they haven't in the past and the tax will be subtracted from their final tax bill in November the letter said."

After listening to property owners in Pahokee for more than two hours, the Pahokee City Council adopted the resolution setting the millage rate at 8.0 with an agreement to possibly lower the millage rate when the city knows the results of the Oct. 7 election.

EMPHASIS

ANY RELIEF AT ALL FROM INFLATION?

You recall the "good news, bad news" stories? Most of the news is bad. The Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that since January 1977, to date, living costs have inflated 44.2 percent!

But there is a surprise! In the same period, the base rate of a residential kilowatt hour remained the same.

The residential rate was set by the Florida Public Service Commission in 1977. It is based on FPL costs in 1976.

Three-and-a-half years of inflation, totaling 44.2 percent, have hit FPL since our last rate increase.

How did we do it? We've increased efficiency. Remained lean. Cut back every way we know how. There may be a limit to how long we can absorb inflated costs. But we're doing our best.

MORE GOOD NEWS!!! High energy efficiency residential appliances are exempt from the Florida sales tax! House Bill 1506, passed by the 1980 Florida Legislature, lists certain central air conditioning systems (EER and SEER exceeding 10.0), heat pumps (exceeding 8.2) and other devices, systems and components as qualifying for the exemption. Your appliance dealer should have additional details.

VOTE. Aristotle, writing in Politics, Book II, noted: "If liberty and equality, as it is thought by some, are chiefly to be found in democracy, they will be best attained when all persons alike share in the government to the utmost."

FLORIDIANS SUPPORT NUCLEAR POWER. Ninety percent of those surveyed by Florida Representative Marilyn Green were opposed to closing nuclear power plants and 76 percent were in favor of continuing to expand nuclear power. The "anti" vote ranged from eight percent to 10 percent—a clear indication that nuclear is recognized as one of the ways to help America out of the energy crisis.

5 for Florida aren't

With virtually every primary race around the state decided in the Sept. 9 election, the U.S. Senate primaries 'being the notable exceptions, a tight turnout is expected to decide the fate of five amendments to the state constitution.

The amendments are being touted by Governor Bob Graham's office as "Five for Florida's Future" and very little else is being said. That's a mistake, considering three aren't in the best interests of the people of this state.

These are the amendments and our positions on them.

1. PROPERTY TAX EXEMPTION FOR SOLAR AND OTHER RENEWABLE ENERGY EQUIPMENT would permit the legislature to establish an ad valorem property tax exemption for up to ten years for solar energy and other renewable energy equipment in homes or businesses.

This amendment is very attractive on the face of it, considering the general trend, and real need, for conservation of energy but it's deceptive.

In the first place, the enabling legislation has made one conservation move conspicuous by its absence, an exemption for installing wind powered electric generators. That could amount to major conservation benefits and you could only wonder if the power companies didn't make themselves felt here.

More important, as attractive as tax cuts, particularly property tax cuts, are, it should be pointed out that the state legislature seems to have been making a concerted effort to lower property taxes lately, currying favor with the voters at the expense of local governments across the state.

The result thus far has been plain to anyone watching the budget-making process at the city and county level. It's been rendered from what has been a pretty clear-cut process to chaos, with lower caps being placed on taxes local governments can impose combined with liberalized homestead exemptions property owners can claim and complicated by the so-called TRIM bill. And that's not even considering the problems brought on by inflation.

If the legislators are so intent on subsidizing energy conservation, the voters ought to make it plain they'll have to at least share the burden, possibly by exempting the purchases from sales taxes, rather than making it ever harder for local taxing bodies to make ends meet.

VOTE NO on Amendment One.

2. HOUSING FINANCE AUTHORITY would permit the state to issue revenue bonds to finance or refinance residential housing and related facilities in Florida. The bonds would be paid from the revenues derived from the sale of the housing facilities and there would be no general obligation of the state or property taxpayers involved in securing the bonds. No bonds can be issued unless a state fiscal agency determines that the debt service requirements will not exceed the pledged revenues.

The thrust of the amendment is to provide assistance to middle income families so they can buy homes they wouldn't otherwise be able to afford and the key is that the bonds would be paid for out of housing sales. Government has no business getting involved in housing but the fact is that prices have driven conventional homes out of the reach of many and this is apparently one of the few, if not the only, answer.

VOTE YES, reluctantly, to Amendment Two.

3. LOCAL OPTION COMMUNITY AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT PROPERTY TAX INCENTIVES would allow cities and counties to grant non-school real and tangible personal property tax exemptions for new and expanding businesses and for community redevelopment.

It still hasn't been proven that property tax exemption is the best way to attract new industry to an area but the theory hasn't been disproven either.

The beauty of this amendment is that the option is left to the local government, which will be the government that loses the income and the local citizenry has a chance for input on the concept because before the city decides to exempt the taxes, the idea must pass a referendum.

VOTE YES, on Amendment Three.

4. INCREASING THE HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION ON NON-SCHOOL TAXES provides for an increase in the Homestead Exemption on all non-school tax levies from the current $5,000 regular exemption and $10,000 exemption for those covered by $5,000 in 1980, $15,000 in 1981, and $25,000 in 1982 and each year thereafter, for all persons who have been residents of Florida for five consecutive years. The amendment also gives authority to grant renters who are permanent residents, ad valorem tax relief on all property tax levies. The increased exemption will only apply in counties where property is assessed at full market value.

This is another case where the state legislators will get the praise for lowering taxes and local governments carry the burden. It's also misleading because not everyone will benefit from it, particularly since local governments, unless they're able to cut their budgets, will have to make up the difference elsewhere.

VOTE NO, on Amendment Four.

5. INVENTORY TAX EXEMPTION AUTHORIZATION would remove the provision mandating a tax on business inventories (personal property for sale as stock in trade and livestock) and give the legislature authority to totally exempt inventories from ad valorem taxation.

This is an amendment that should have been passed long ago. The tax in question is discriminatory, inconsistent, is a disincentive to new business, isn't based on the ability to pay and is difficult to audit to ensure it's even being paid the way it should be.

VOTE YES, on Amendment Five.

'We couldn't get them filled so we decided to stock 'em.'

Remember to vote!

The long presidential election year of 1980 is entering its final stages and Florida voters are being asked to return to the polls for the third time this year Tuesday, Oct. 7th.

It's the second primary election, most local elections have been held, and voters will take the time to go to the polls one last time before the Nov. 4 general election.

Voters all across the state of Florida will choose between Republican and Democratic candidates for U.S. Senate, Richard Stone and Bill Gunter are vying for the Democratic nomination, while Paula Hawkins and Lou Frey are the Republican hopefuls.

Voters will also decide the fate of five constitutional amendments (see related editorial on this page).

In Glades County, a field of six in the sheriff's race has been narrowed to Billy Arnold and Russell Henderson.

A field of three in the District One school board race is now two: Myrna Hagan and Irene Lundy.

A field of three in the Moore Haven City Commission contest is also now two: Frank Birdwell and Leta Christie.

In Hendry County, all local candidates have been decided, except for the sheriff's election which will appear on the November ballot. Also appearing on the November ballot for Pioneer Plantation residents will be a question of whether they wish to establish a water control district.

In the meantime, Hendry County voters will be asked Oct. 7 to vote on a referendum for or against establishing garbage service in the non-incorporated areas of the county.

It has been proposed to establish garbage service for rural areas of the county similar to that already in effect for city residents.

County officials say the service is necessary to pay for operation of the county landfill. But opponents say rural residents will not enjoy the same quality of service as city residents. They also object to the way the ordinance is written, and to proposed collection methods.

Residents of western Palm Beach County have probably the least to vote on this October of any Glades citizens. The only items appearing on their ballots are the senatorial races and constitutional amendment questions.

Judge thanked for his help

To my friends & to Judge Parsons: I suppose it's out of the ordinary for a prisoner to feel the way I do but it couldn't be helped.

In you, I have found someone who listens, someone who cares, someone I call a friend. When I first came here I was losing control of my life. Through your words of advice and just plain actions, you've brought forth again the feelings of what life is really all about; and that's helping one another.

I'd lost that somewhere deep inside and I didn't like the world and liked very few people that were in it. But then I saw a kind of closeness that you have for one another and a little must of rubbed off on me because I started to feel again what it was like to be a part of, and to have a purposeful life.

I guess what I'm really trying to say is I felt loved. Thank you, for you have given to me an example to share with others and to show others love. I thank Jesus for having placed persons like you all in a place where they are most needed.

Love,

exercise your right to vote

Editor: In 1786, a great patriot, Thomas Paine, stated: "The Sumner Soldier and the Sunshine Patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of their country." Today, as then, our nation is faced with grave danger. How are we responding? Even though the fundamental responsibility of citizenship is the obligation to vote, most citizens, on election day, "shrink from the service of their country."

Members of the American Legion, dedicated to its founding purpose, "To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America," take great pride in the fact that we served our country in time of need. Today, we are serving again, but in a different capacity: 92% of our members are registered to vote and we vote. Will you accept this challenge?

All citizens, veterans and non-veterans alike, must be involved in the struggle to preserve this nation as a free and independent institution. We must be informed on the facts of the deplorable condition of our nation's military preparedness and know those in position of leadership. We have put our freedom in peril - then act accordingly. As Abraham Lincoln stated: "To sin by silence when we should protest, makes towards of us all." The American Legion will continue to take action against the danger confronting us today, and we urge all freedom loving Americans to stand with us. Theodore Roosevelt stated: "The first requisite of a good citizen in this Republic of ours, is that he shall be able and willing to put his own weight."

We must honor the obligation placed upon us by the words of Patrick

Henry: "Is life so dear, or peace so sweet, as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God! I know not what course others may take, but as for me, give me liberty or give me death." Let these stirring words be our inspiration and our challenge as we Stand Up for America.

A judge in San Francisco, who apparently studied his Sir William Gilbert while preparing for the bar ("My object all sublime - I shall achieve in time - To make the punishment fit the crime") has handed down a sentence that may generate a frothing diatribe in matters of criminal justice.

Judge Daniel Hanlon recently sentenced a woman convicted of running a bordello to 90 days - in a convent. Mariene (Brand) Baldwin was placed in the "care, custody and control" of the Convent of the Good Shepherd instead of being packed off to a duration that presumably is vile even in San Francisco.

Well, the judge's decision doesn't seem inappropriate, though undoubtedly there will be zealous civil libertarians who will find some awful aspect of the sentence with which to quarrel - a judicial predisposition to favor a particular orthodoxy or something like that.

Taken on its face, Judge Hanlon's sentence seems fairly sensitive and we don't intend to be facetious about it.

Another line in the Associated Press dispatch did jar us, however. The convent-bound madam was quoted as saying after her sentencing, "I'm trying to get out of this behind me. I want to put it to rest and write a book about my life."

Had we been on the bench when Baldwin made those remarks in the presence of the court, the sentence might have been made contingent on her foregoing that intent.

A dire connection has developed, it seems to us, between notoriety and authorship. It is a dull lesson, indeed, these days who does not covet to secure a first-rate literary agent as well as competent counsel.

Despite the reduced rate of growth - which some population experts are calling "a demographic revolution" - the number of people being added yearly to the world's total has not declined. This is because the lower growth rate is applied to an ever-larger base population.

Despite the good news about declining growth rates and birthrates, the world's population (about 4.5 billion) is still growing very fast, and the experts on population predict it will probably continue to do so for about 100 years. Then it is expected to level off at about 10.7 billion people.

The recent signs of a declining growth rate suggest there is hope for a livable world, but only if the nations have a sense of urgency about population control and make even greater efforts in the next 10 years.

15,949 figure was accurate.

"I don't assume the 1970 census figure was accurate," Altman replied. "I assume it was too low."

When Altman asked Baker if the courts would accept the city's survey should the city file suit and Baker replied the problem is that the courts are stuck with definitions laid down by the census bureau.

There was some discussion about the suit won last week by the city of Detroit but no one would venture an opinion on what the impact would be because no one knew the basis of the Detroit argument.

According to newspaper reports, U.S. District Judge Horace W.

Gilmore found in the suit that the census bureau failed to count the residents of the nation's sixth largest city accurately and held the error was paralleled nationwide.

Gilmore ordered the bureau to adjust the figures at all levels and barred the delivery of any population count to the president until the adjustments are made.

The commission decided to go ahead with plans for a pre-test which Brissson suggested and for Baker to explore possible court action. Baker also suggested that he will be meeting shortly with a group of city attorneys and he could see what action other Florida cities are contemplating.

because if the federal government is involved, a maximum of 24 units could be built, what with the requirements for parking spaces and open space.

In other business, the commissioners:

- Approved a request by Public Works Director Ron Sigmon to pave the runway at the Belle Glade Airport after filling in a dry ditch on the north side of the existing runway and building the runway north of the ditch location.

Sigmon said he had received a verbal commitment from the state Department of Transportation (DOT) to contribute $100,000 if the city contributes $166,850 of in-kind work. He said the city wouldn't actually spend any cash on the project.

The job would leave the airport with a 4,000 foot east-west paved runway with lights which would be activated by a radio signal by incoming aircraft at night and would automatically go off 15 minutes later.

The improvements at the airport were sparked last week when a group of pilots complained to the commission about the condition of the east-west runway.

The commission decided at the time to explore the possibility of laying down a rock runway rather than attempting to repair the muck runway. Sigmon said the basic difference between that proposal and the one he presented Monday night was an additional 12 inches of rock to be used as base and the need for a 50 foot wide runway instead of 40 feet wide.

• Approved a bid in the amount of $3,225 to buy sand to be used in the filters at the city water treatment plant.

• Postponed action on another bid for pipe and fittings at the water plant until the city can find out if the bidders would mind splitting up the bids.

October fishing forecast

By Larne Racicot

Ah, October! True, the first half of this month can produce its quota of hot, muggy days, though some will have just a hint of what's to come in the last half of the month.

From mid-October on you can expect cooler, drier and even a cold front or two. Just enough of the latter to dispel the humidity of summer and bring the briskness of drier air.

The winds can howl hard also. With the approach of a cold front, the winds will shift from easterly to westerly, then to the northwest and north to finally settle in a northeast "quadrant." For several days or more. After the passage of a front you awake to mornings when the sky is a deep, blue, the air is cool and the feeling of your blood run a little faster and the urge to get out on the water quickens.

And why not? The fish seem to react in the same way. They certainly are more co-operative to those seeking action under more favorable conditions. ("September Morn" was the work of an artist. An "October Morn" here in South Florida is the work of Mother Nature and what a magnificent effort it is.

Milder temperatures, blue sky, dispelling the mists of the myriad webs of your spider spun by spiders against a background of gray, all will go to a great extent on the top of the fish. We have had this past three months take a little better than usual. There is always some musing that the hole will descend on us again. You can be sure they will but not for many months to come. October is also the month when birds that have been spending their summer in the north are returning to spend the winter.

Huge flocks of, well, you name them, are seen everywhere. Some will winter here while others will continue on south. They are a continual delight to the eye and bird-watching is best in seventh heaven.

Clewiston is a bird sanctuary with an active Audubon Chapter. Those wishing to seek vantage points for their hobby can get pertinent information from the Chamber of Commerce.

This area is host to many, many varieties of feathered water visitors and if bird-watching is for you then it is an excellent place to bide a wee.

It is the fishing scene, however, where most of the activity will be centered. October is the month when we also welcome back our winter visitors whose numbers increase each year all around the Big "O." They love to fish, as we do.

The fish populations of all varieties are set to be excellent. The fish live in the best of conditions and are running to good size. Adjustments made by the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission in the management of the commercial fishery have been a boon to the sports angler and most, if not all, of the conflicts of opinion have been laid to rest. Word from the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission is that bass and bluegill are abundant. Crappie have declined approximately 10 percent over last year. Reducing the crappie population was one of the aims of the commission. There are still great numbers of them and it is expected that as many or more will be taken this winter compared to last year. Lake levels are a determining factor. Right now, with the lake at approximately 15 feet, conditions are excellent.

Sheller crabs are abundant on the west side of the lake. In some areas the population is really too high. Depending on the availability of food this could result, perhaps, in a smaller average size. In other areas of the lake where the population is not as dense the fish are running to better than average size. That's the October season, broadly speaking. Now for the details of what we can expect for the various varieties of fish.

With the water level at 15 feet, those bass that have spent their summer in the deeper water or cover so much of the lake are virtually unfishable, except for "flipping," will be heading for the shoreline reef edges.

Now the winter spend considerable time there before moving into the bedding areas later on. In this circumstance, any number and variety of lures and live shiners will produce bass. You can also expect to see some real hunkers come from every shore line of the lake.

Top water plugs, spoon and skirt or strip combos, spinner baits, crank baits, plastic worms, popping baits and other types of lures will take bass consistently. You may have to experiment on what particular lure, size and pattern is best at any given time but, if you are patient and solve this puzzle, you are going to catch bass.

An advantage in being able to fish the shallower waters of the lake early is that, regardless of the wind direction, except under severe conditions, you can locate fish holding areas and where the wind factors are less of a problem.

When we suggest fishing the shoreline areas we do not mean that a great number of fish will still not be taken off the pepperglass beds on the flats. They will, because one of the wind factors is that, regardless of the wind direction, except under severe conditions, you can locate fish holding areas and where the wind factors are less of a problem.

The Rim Canal and the "cuds" from it to the open water are also a prime place to try your luck. A northeaster blowing for two or three days can drive the bait fish, not only into the canal, but into the canal proper and the bass follow the bait. Innumerable excellent catches have been made, and will continue to be, in these locations when wind conditions make the lake too rough for all practical fishing purposes.

October can be a good month for a bluegill. It depends on the moon phase, temperatures, lake level and moon phase.

We may or may not have fishing activity this month. If so, it will likely be early in the month or not at all. The full moon isn't until October 23. If we should get a cold front or two before that date it could quite possibly turn off the bedding activity. All is not lost for bluegill enthusiasts.

During the month, under normal conditions, we should see a number of "chazywink" hatches. When they occur lose no time in taking advantage of them. Some of the better "gill" catches will be made during these hatches. Fly-rodgers will have a ball, especially when they match their offerings to the hatch.

White shiners fish appear to lose all sense of their normal precaution during a hatch. They can be selective as to what they are offering to the hatch. Small popping baits in sizes 8 or 10 and gray-yellow wet fly patterns in the size range are extremely effective.

Live crickets fished near the surface can be pure gold. They are virtually unfishable, except for "flipping," will be heading for the shoreline reef edges.

Area fishing report

By Larne Racicot

Bluegill and sheller crabs were active on the lake side of the Rim Canal in the vicinity of Marker 96 and also off Rock Reef. The fish were running to excellent size.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry and family of Ft. Myers had an excellent speck fishing using Missouri minnows. They located the fish in the deep holes off the Rim Canal in 14 to 16 feet of water.

Buddy Norris of Slim's Camp in Belle Glade also confirmed, excellent bass fishing this past weekend. The pepperglass beds in that area were also the biggest producers. Live shiners fished in depths of five and six feet did the trick.

Vict Wright and Jim Britt of Ft. Lauderdale limited out on bass using live shiners. Their biggest fish were 7 1/4 and 8 3/4 pounds respectively.

Art Shierman of Belle Glade limited out on plastic worms with his biggest tipping the scales at 8 1/4 pounds. Sam Cooke and Dale Stiver of Tallahassee limited out on bluegill on live worms and crickets.

They found the fish in the Rim Canal and the shoreline edges. Limits of specks were taken when those doing so were Bob Reese and party of West Palm Beach. The fish are in excellent condition and ran to good size.

Ken Parker of Calusa Lodge Lakesport tells us that while very few fishermen pursued the panfish, bass fishermen were out in droves this weekend.

In two days of fishing Mr. and Mrs. Yeiser of Lexington, Ky. brought in 18 bass which included fish of 5 3/4, 8 and 8 1/4 pounds. They were taken on plastic worms. Mr. & Mrs. Virgil Wolfe, also of Hamilton, Ohio, had 11 to 8 1/4 pounds on plastic worms. Other good catches were made using crank baits and a variety of other lures.

The consensus of opinion being that if you could locate the areas the fish were holding in you were in business.

Fly rodgers, using popping bugs, were getting good sized bluegill in the Rim Canal area and the canal adjacent to the lake.

Good numbers of fishermen were present even though football fever was at an extremely high pitch here in South Florida this weekend. Those that opted for fishing were, in the main, happy with the results.

Food for thought

By Larne Racicot

Perusing the 1960-81 Hunting and Game Laws, I found some rather interesting facts. The most startling of which is there is some form of hunting, somewhere in Florida, every month of the year.

"Off" season is from April 13 through May 22. Even during the hotter weather there is cover shooting available. Commencing May 23 through October 25 these peppy pests may be legally taken on the Saturday and Sunday.

While the crow is not high on the table for list it certainly provides the opportunity to keep one "hooting eye" keen. From time to time I have seen recipes for preparing crow for the dinner table. And we also read that, properly prepared, they are rather tasty. This is a decision that each crow shooter will have to make for himself. To eat or not to eat is the question.

On September 1, statewide, the season opens with Rail and Florida quail being legal game. From that point on the action picks up to include the larger game such as deer, bear and hog. Bear can only be taken in specified areas but, the fact remains it is still legal game. In September turkey, quail and squirrel are also legal game. October 4 is when the first phase of dove season opens followed by ducks in November.

Those in this category should know better and if they and a few are being tricked with jigs. Bob Reese of West Palm Beach caught one 50 pounder. All Proper, with fishing in the number two opening south of the fish camp.

On the bass fishing scene, live shiners and Adam's worms (plastic) have been producing lunker bass from reed lines and grassbeds. Jack Sims of Palatka was tops in the bass category with a 9 1/4 pounder. Vic Wright and Jim Britt of Fort Lauderdale had a limit, the largest two being 8 3/4 and 7 1/4 pounds caught on shiners.

Art Shierman weighed in an 8 1/4 pounder. All Proper, with fishing in the number two opening south of the fish camp. are ever caught the penalty can be severe. Some hunters will shoot illegal game for the reason that they have spent the entire day toiling a rifle or shotgun and haven't seen anything legal to shoot.

Of course, when a bird just juts up and shoot at it in frustration. This is no excuse. Luck in hunting is like luck in fishing. The harder you work at it the luckier you get.

If you want to be a true sportsman take the time to study hunting methods for the various varieties, attend Hunter Safety Courses and learn the areas you wish to hunt thoroughly before the season opens.

Learning more about your sport will surely result in your never having to shoot at illegal game again. If more people would join hunting clubs they would learn how to really hunt something other than small birds.

While it is true some may shoot these birds out of ignorance most want only to destroy them and certainly, those who do, cannot ever be considered in the ranks of sportsmen.

Are there too many does?

By Larne Racicot

Florida has done an excellent job of restoring the deer herd. From an estimated 2000 in 1942 to a present population of approximately 600,000. While it is true that the herd has declined severely in Southeast Florida, recent years it is increasing by leaps and bounds in areas to the north.

Some counties already have herds that the carrying capacity of the area is not sufficient to sustain them. They are literally eating themselves out of house and home.

Another major problem is that the ratio of bucks to does is at an imbalance. There are just too many does. This is the opinion of biologists and Bureau of Wildlife Research personnel.

To effectively manage the herd, they feel that only by harvesting does will the present imbalance of bucks to does be brought into line. The taking of does has long been a taboo in some quarters but at this time it is indicated that it may be the only solution.

The Florida Game and Freshwater Fish Commission has held public meetings and will hold more in an effort to alert all interested parties to the problem.

The Commission could not have restored the herd without the great support of the sportsman/hunter. That same support is now needed for herd management. The public's thoughts may be concerning the harvesting of does, take a little time and write to your area Game and Fish Commission office (in our case, West Palm Beach) and let them have your opinions.

Make the effort to attend public meetings on the subject and let your voice be heard. This column will try to keep you up to date on where and when future public meetings will be held.

Any comments you wish to make or questions you have should be directed to the Commission and every effort will be made to get your comments into the right hands and answers to your questions obtained.

City commissioners cut budget a total of $404,000

By DEAN JONES

BELLE GLADE — The 1981 budget was slashed another $180,000 Monday night in the city commission's third session aimed at reducing spending for the coming year, marking a total reduction of $404,000 from the originally proposed $4.55 million general fund the city began to live under today.

The $404,000 represented a net decrease in the budget of slightly less than $270,000, paved off the proposed budget in three sessions: the first being the weekend of Aug. 1-3 when the budget was presented, when the commission decided to cut back $66,000 to avoid dipping into the city's cash reserve, the second last month when the commissioners decided to hold the line on property taxes at 8.6 mills despite anticipated decreases in revenue and the third Monday night.

The Monday night session

After that session, Sigmon presented a list of proposed street work that would have been done under the line item. The cost of the entire list was set at slightly more than $60,000 to be done under the general fund and, as usual, the commissioners were expected to provide input on priorities of the various jobs, adding or deleting street work as they saw fit.

The need for the priorities vanished Monday night, however, when the commissioners first cut another $15,000 leaving $235,000 in the fund and, after midnight, when they'd exhausted other alternatives, decided on the final $220,000 cut.

That cut was made conditional, however, on Altman's suggestion that during the coming year, another look would be taken at the budget and, if it's surplus had been built up in other areas, an adjustment would be made to build the fund back up to do whatever work can be afforded in the year's last six months. Other cuts included:

- An anticipated decrease of $20,000 in unemployment compensation to be paid by the city next year.
- $12,000 for the salary of a foreman in the Streets Department. The foreman's position is now vacant and Sigmon said it has been vacant for several years.
- Several thousand dollars in pay for various city boards, including the Civil Service Board, and the Zoning and Planning Board. The commissioners agreed to a request by Altman that letters be sent to the board members asking if their service was contingent on the pay they receive for attending meetings.

The one cut the commission discussed but didn't make was a voluntary cut of $1,000 each in their own salaries which was suggested by Commissioners Randy Davidson and Claude Tindall. Commissioners Altman and Dorothy Walker argued then that the commissioners earn $650 for the mayor.

This was the second of the same meetings in which a self-imposed salary cut was proposed. The other time was during the September meeting when Mayor Ralph Kirk suggested the commissioners cut their pay by half, which would amount to a savings to the city of more than $17,000.

Commissioners Altman and Dorothy Walker argued then that the commissioners earn their salaries by performing chores for the taxpayers such as finding ways to cut the budget. They ignored the discussion between Tindall and Davidson except for a comment by Miss Walker that she would be sure the city would accept a donation of $1,000 each from Davidson and Tindall.

Mayor Kirk was in another room and didn't join the conversation.

was called two weeks ago when City Finance Director and Acting City Manager Frank Anderson told the commissioners an anticipated $265,000 surplus from the present year didn't exist; that it would be closer to $75,000. Anderson said the $180,000 would have to be made up by increasing revenue or cutting expenditures in order to balance the budget. He said the figure represents overspending during the year, but a budget meeting and two months later when he made his announcement.

Most of the $180,000 in cuts came Monday night, when the range of $500 to $1,000 scattered throughout the budget, particularly in travel expenses and contingency funds.

The final cut of $22,800 which met the goal of $180,000, however, despite the city's street resurfacing program funds from an original request of $100,000 by the Streets Department to less than $13,000, too little, according to Public Works Director Ron Sigmon, to do more than holding the line on street deterioration without providing any improvements.

The street contracts line item was hard fought but in many ways is typical of the budgeting process this year, when the commission has taken a harder look than any time in recent history at the figures proposed by the city administration.

The Streets Department asked for the $100,000 based on the fact the city has only spent $473 on repaving streets during the year which ended yesterday, compared to $61,262 last year, and resurfacing was recommended on several city streets.

Former City Manager Robert Sanders cut the figure to $76,000, representing the administration's recommendation, but he presented the budget to the commission and another $10,000 was cut during the commission's annual budget retreat on Aug. 2.

Another $15,000 was cut during the September session when the commission decided to hold the ad valorem tax rate at 8.6 mills, leaving $50,000 in the budget for resurfacing.

Have farmers done anything you lately? Probably not. At least, not since your last meal. Figures developed by researchers with the USDA indicate that American farmers' production last year was high enough that each man farming produced enough to feed 57 people. In the European Common Market countries one farmer produced enough to feed 23 other people, the average of all developed countries was less than half the productivity in the U.S. and in Russia the average farmer produced enough to feed only about 8 others. Not only is the American productivity important in keeping us all well fed (most too well) it's also significant in that it allows 96 out of every 100 people to work in areas outside food production. That makes possible the production of the wide variety of goods and services which constitute our unparalleled living standard. Keep it up farmers!

CLASS OF 62 GIVES HELPING HAND

Members of the Class of 1962 of the former Lake Shore Junior Senior High School, a close knit group while students at the former all black high school in Belle Glade; this past weekend held a special benefit to raise funds to aid a class member with a serious kidney disorder that required the aid of the dialysis machine three times a week.

Mrs. Winifred Tolbert and Mrs. Mary Evans, members of the class of 1962 and organizers said the class saw the benefit as a need to help someone close to them and to revive that sense of closeness and caring that is so obviously lacking in so many facets of life.

Mrs. Clementine Pruitt Sherman, the recipient of the funds, a former student and teacher of Lake Shore Jr. Sr. High School of Miami was overwhelmed with surprise at the heart warming action of her classmates.

Class of 62 it is nice to know that you are a part of the caring sector of our country and hats off to you for such a noble and charitable action.

UP and COMING, a new dramatic 13-part series about adolescent life today, premieres on WPBT Channel 2, Thursday, Oct. 9 at 8:30 p.m.

Each week, sensitive stories will unfold about a striving black family with three teenagers who have to deal with social and emotional dilemmas facing them in a new neighborhood.

UP and COMING is not only entertaining but also leaves teen viewers perhaps thinking, understanding and dealing with important issues of their lives.

UP and COMING also gives the general public a realistic look into black family life, not the stereotype "George Jefferson and Family" show.

Most Americans view Black families as one without a male figure head, raised on welfare and foodstamps.

Although those arrangements are true for some families, believe me its not only just confined to the Black community.

Programs like UP and COMING will do much to clear the picture of many erroneous distortions, and leave us with a much clearer view on family and teenager life.

SB hears garbage proposal

By Dean Jones

SOUTH BAY — City Commissioners gave tentative approval Tuesday night to a proposal by a Fort Lauderdale-based firm to pick up the city's garbage over the next five years at a residential pickup charge of $7 per month.

Mayor Don Tanner directed Acting City Manager Lenax Harrelle to get together with City Attorney James Gann to go over a proposal by Automated Systems, Inc., the same company which has a similar proposal before the Pahokee City Council, to dispose of the city's garbage and trash.

Paul Baker and Charles Greene said they hope to secure contracts with all the cities around Lake Okeechobee and use them as showcases in efforts to get future contracts with other cities.

The Rapid Rail System, they said, is already being used in a number of Florida cities, including North Miami Beach, Fort Pierce and Tallahassee and Pahokee was the company's first sale in Florida five years ago.

Baker said he is attempting to get Pahokee, however, to sign the same form of contract as he presented to South Bay Tuesday night, allowing the company to make the pickups instead of buying the garbage containers and truck from the company and using city personnel to operate the equipment.

He said the actual residential pickup rate over the next five years would be $5.75; that $1.25 of the monthly $7 charge would go toward the purchase of the roll-away 96-gallon plastic containers.

Baker said the city would continue billing residences for the service but the company would want to begin direct billing of commercial users at the rate of $3 a cubic yard. While the residential fee would be guaranteed, however, the commercial rate would not.

He said the residential pickups would be made twice a week, on Mondays, Thursdays and the truck and driver would be used to make pickups in Pahokee on other days of the week.

Baker said the containers are "rainproof and animal-proof." He said there is a five-year unconditional guarantee and another five years of warranty beyond that.

Raiders ramble over Jupiter, 66-12

By Dean Jones
BELLE GLADE—The Glades Central football team, ranked fourth in the state Class AAA ratings after rolling to a 66-12 win over hapless Jupiter, will be looking for its second win in District 14 at 8 p.m. Friday when it plays host to Cardinal Newman.

A win over Newman will put the Raiders in the district driver's seat, with only the need to defeat Atlantic on Oct. 17 to win a berth in the post-season playoffs.

The Raiders struck almost as swiftly against the Warriors as they had against North Shore and John I. Leonard, putting seven points on the board on the strength of a 74-yard ramble by Willie McCoy only 89 seconds into the game.

That was on the third play from scrimmage. In their first two games of the 1980 season, the Glades Central troops scored on the first play from scrimmage, once on offense and once on defense.

McCoy took the handoff from quarterback Jacob Rhames, cut the corner around the line of scrimmage at the Raider 26 yard line, picked up blocking and the race was on for the first of six touchdowns in the first half of play. McCoy was responsible for two. The extra point kick was partially blocked but the ball still managed to clear the uprights for the first of Rhames' six extra point attempts. His other four kicks were incomplete.

The Warriors were only able to gain four yards in three plays following the ensuing kickoff and punted out to Greg Bain, who returned the ball from his own 30 to the Jupiter 42 but a clipping penalty put the ball back to the Raider 30.

Rhames picked up nine yards on the next play, a pass to Bain, then connected on a flareout to Hester in the flat and he earned his nickname by galloping 61 yards for Glades Central's second score three minutes and ten seconds after the first.

The PAT kick failed and the Raiders led, 13-0 with 8:01 remaining in the quarter.

It took the Raiders another two minutes and 52 seconds to put their next score, set up by a defense that allowed the Warriors only four yards on the ground and 93 in the air for the night, while the Glades Central offense rolled for 279 yards on the ground and 148 in the air for a total of 427 total yards to 97.

The Warriors had managed to get from their own 24 yard line to their 37, on the strength of two running plays that netted a yard, a pass good for 2 and two five-yard penalties that cancelled each other out.

Defensive back Steve Steed intercepted a Carl King pass on the Raider 40-yard line and raced back to the Jupiter five but another clipping penalty placed the ball on the Raider 49, from where Bain ran it in for a TD one play later, giving the Raiders a 19-0 edge with 5:09 left in the first quarter.

The next Raider drive was broken up early in the second period when a Rhames pass was picked off by King at the Jupiter 14. King ran the ball back to his own 42 before being hauled down but four plays later, the Warriors failed to convert on a fourth and one situation, turning it back over to the Raiders, who promptly scored two plays later after McCoy was sacked for a five yard loss, only to score on the next play on a 53-yard gallop past the line, giving the Raiders a 26-0 lead with 7:56 left in the half.

One minute and 52 seconds later, the Raiders boosted the score to 32-0 when Bain gathered in a punt on his own 22 and returned it 78 yards for the score.

The final score of the half was set up when McCoy scooped in a Jupiter punt, again on the Raider 22 yard line and was bound for his second score when he slipped and fell on the Jupiter 12 yard line. Rhames connected with Hester one play later for Hester's second score of the night and Glades Central went into the half with a 40-0 lead.

Raider coach Ben McCoy emptied the bench during the game's second half, using Jeffery Willis at quarterback. Willis directed his first series of plays in the second half to a score when Randi Rutledge crashed through the line to score from three yards out with 8:38 left in the third period.

One of the Raiders' two punt attempts came on their next possession but failed when the snap from center flew over Tommie Duhan's head and Jupiter recovered the ball on the Raider 11 yard line, setting up the Warrior's first score four plays later on a Carl King to Mickey Thomas pass.

An attempted pass for the two points failed and the Warriors were on the scoreboard, 47-6 with 3:30 left in the third period.

The Raiders scored again two plays later when Rutledge ran in from the Jupiter 41, giving Glades Central a 53-6 lead with 2:29 left in the period.

On the first play of the Raiders' next series, Willis threw a screen pass to Hester on his own left sideline at the Jupiter 45. Hester cut across the field, picking up blocking, and outran the final defenders on the right sideline, running some 85 yards to pick up 45 yards for his third touchdown of the night. Rhames' kick was good and that gave the Raiders a 60-6 lead.

Jupiter scored again with 4:14 left in the game, a touchdown set up by an interception of a Willis pass on the Raider 28-yard line. King heaved a bomb on the next play, connecting with Larry Hiscop in the end zone.

The final score of the game came less than three minutes later when Willis connected on a 25 yard pass play to Ray McDonald.

Willie McCoy was the Raiders' leading rusher, picking up 125 yards and two touchdowns in three carries. Greg Bain picked up another 61 yards and two touchdowns in three carries, followed by Randi Rutledge with 60 yards and a TD in six carries and Eddie Lusane with 25 yards and a touchdown in six carries.

Hester was five for five in the pass receiving department, picking up 135 yards and scoring three touchdowns, followed by McDonald with 25 yards and a TD for one reception and Brown, who picked up 20 yards in one reception.

On defense, the Raiders were led by Curtis Marshall, with 11 tackles and two quarterback sacks. Roy Webb with 11 tackles and one quarterback sack, Tony Moore with 11 tackles, and Robert Johnson and Willis Thomas with nine tackles each.

Pahokee loses to Immokalee

PAHOKEE—The Immokalee Indians ranked sixth in the High School Class 2-A polls proved too much for the Pahokee High School Blue Devils who were hoping to taste victory Friday after two unsuccessful tries against Boca Raton and Clewiston early this season.

Pahokee now 0-3 for the season failed to put together a scoring drive throughout the games. Each time the Pahokee Blue Devils lead by quarterback Boris Banks would start a drive into the Indians territory the Devils would be hauled back into their own territory with penalties.

The Devils also had a hard time keeping their hands on the ball. The Indians recovered two fumbles deep in Pahokee territory and converted both into first-half touchdowns for a 14-0 victory over the Devils in a District 7 game.

Immokalee took an 8-0 lead in the first quarter on a rive set up by lineman Margarito DeJesus fumble recovery at the blue Devils 27, plays to score from there, the touchdown coming on a 7-yard quarterback keeper by Victor Hawkins.

A Pahokee fumble at the Blue Devils 38 set up the Indians second scoring drive. The score came on a conventional play when Pahokee coaching staff and team assumed time had run out and the first half was over.

Neither Immokalee or the Devils could manage a score in the second half.

Pahokee was hurt by 85 yards in penalties and penetrated no further than the Immokalee 37 yard line. Frank Chain keyed the Immokalee victory, rushing for 108 yards, on 31 carries, including 44 yards on the second touchdown drive.

Pahokee had only 7 first downs to the Indians 13. Immokalee had 182 yards rushing and Pahokee rushed for 95 yards.

The Devils will go up against Avon Park Friday night on Pahokee's field.

Coach Antione Russell said the Devils will be working hard throughout the week in preparation for Friday's game and special attention will be given to Boris Banks, the quarterback and the execution of plays.

Gators beat Gold Coast, ranked 8th

By JEFF SMITH

BELLE GLADE—Glades Day School's return home this Friday in a showdown of the unbeaten when they square off against Benjamin after routing Gold Coast Christian last week, 25-0.

Both Glades Day and Benjamin have 3-0 records going into the district Class A football game at Gator Stadium. The Buccaneers maintained their record Friday with a 28-3 rout of Boca Raton Academy.

The Gators won their easy victory at Gold Coast Christian's home field in Delray Beach in the second of two away games. The Gators scored all their points in the first half and Coach Byron Walker gave his reserves experience in the second half of play.

Defense sparked the Gators once again as the Eagles were held to minus 40 yards rushing and only 78 yards passing with four interceptions for a total of 38 yards offense.

Interceptions were made by Gators Tommy Swager, Jason Shelton, Greg Clancy and JESSIE THE JET (Hester) takes to the air to catch a pass for his third touchdown of the evening against Jupiter. Hester caught the little flareout from reserve quarterback Jeffery Willis on his own left sideline, and cut all the way across the field to his right sideline, running about 85 yards to score the 45-yard TD.

Christian Day wins second game of year

BELLE GLADE—The Christian Day School football team scored its second win of the season Saturday evening when the Crusaders traveled to Okeechobee and beat the Brahman junior varsity, 18-13.

CDS coach Gus Harmon said the win was keyed by the Crusader defense, which was on the field for 15 plays in the third quarter and six in the fourth quarter and stopped two drives by the Brahman.

They showed real pride and guts, Harmon said.

Christian Day put the first points on the board by marching 72 yards in seven plays to score in their first possession of the game. He said the drive was sparked by quarterback Alex Morales, who made a 33-yard run, passed to Kent Davis for 13 yards and made the 13 yard scoring run.

He said the scoring play was an end sweep made possible by a vicious block by Davis that threw him into the nickel seats.

The junior Brahman came back after the kickoff and posted their first score on a 67 yard drive in nine plays, giving them a 7-6 lead for the first quarter.

In the second quarter, Ronnie Cameron capped a 60 yard drive by running in for the touchdown from seven yards out, giving Christian Day a 12-7 lead at the half.

In the second half, the Crusaders stopped a 50 yard drive and Morales, sparked the last CDS scoring drive with passes of five and 14 yards to Tony Duboy and Cameron. That drive was capped when Cameron scored from 17 yards out.

The final score came early in the final period when Okeechobee's Greg Harris scored his second TD of the night with a seven yard run. The Brahman tried an on-side kick but Gene Bain fell on the ball at the 50 yard line and the Crusaders used a ground game to eat up as much of the clock as possible.

Cameron was the leading rusher, picking up 106 yards in 14 carries. He was followed by Morales with 48 yards in six carries and Kent Davis with eight yards in 45 carries.

On defense, Tony Duboy led the Crusaders with 13 tackles, followed by Kent Davis with 11 and Gene Bain with ten.

The Crusaders posted a total of 201 yards rushing and 47 yards in the air, compared to Okeechobee's 157 on the ground and four in the air.

Christian Day meets Boca Raton Academy at 4 p.m. Friday behind St. Peter's Lutheran School. Harmon said this could be the Crusaders' biggest and most important game of the year and a scoreback has been erected for the occasion.

Hunt cars altered

WEST PALM BEACH—A series of changes in the design, size and power of tracked vehicles operating in the Everglades has been proposed by the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

While no changes will take effect this coming hunting season, the Commission anticipates that all vehicles comply with the 1981-82 hunting season.

A public hearing has been scheduled for Friday, Sept. 19 in the Palm Beach Hilton Hotel beginning at 7:30 p.m. The hotel is located at 2842 South Ocean Blvd. in Palm Beach.

Basically, the proposed changes would mandate vehicle width at no more than eight feet, including any swing-out seat, outrigger or other protrusion capable of bearing the weight of a person.

Vehicle height would be regulated to no more than six feet from the lowest bottom surface of the vehicle. No tracked vehicle could be powered by more than a six cylinder, 230 cubic inch gasoline engine equipped with a two-barrel carburetor and standard automobile muffler. Engines would not be modified so as to increase horsepower.

All tracks would be required to have track not less than 16 inches in width. The regulations have been proposed because of the fragile nature of the Everglades along with an increasing number of vehicles, according to Commission Director, Col. Robert M. Dravny.

SEVENTEEN YEARS of service and loyalty to the Glades Central sports program was recognized during halftime ceremonies of the Jupiter game when Dr. Luis Guerrero (second from right) was presented a jacket and certificate of appreciation. Making the presentation on behalf of the athletic council and the school are, from left, Calvin Clay, Dr. Effie Grear and Bill Motes.

THE DYNAMIC DUO of Jessie Hester (42) and Greg Bain (32), who could be the most heavily recruited high school players in South Florida this year, made themselves felt early in the game, both scoring in the first quarter. Hester scored first on a 61 yard pass from quarterback Jacob Rhames and Bain scores above on a 49 yard run against Jupiter.

Sugar cows offer high meat yield

Belle Glade farmers may soon lay claim to America's sweetest cattle.

Dr. Finlay Pate, animal nutritionist with the UF's Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences (IFAS) conducted an experiment in which 72 local bovines munched on sugarcane instead of the traditional corn, sorghum and other forage crops.

Fresh chopped sugarcane — the whole plant — was fed to 40 two-year-old steers and 32 weaning calves for 96-133 days. As the amount of sugarcane in the diet increased, the less weight the cattle gained and the more slowly they gained it. Pate simply increased the amount of feed the cattle ate in order to keep their weight up to par.

"It's still more economical to use sugarcane, Pate said, because it costs less."

At least one local farm agrees. The A. Duda and Sons farm fed 20,000 head of cattle last year on sugarcane and according to feedlot manager Malcolm Lavender, the price is right.

"Of course it all depends on the price of sugar cane but right now we're getting it for about $27 a ton from the mill," Lavender said. The Glades Feed and Supply Inc.

currently sells mixed cattle feed for $223 a ton.

Pate said the primary purpose of the cane feedlots will be to feed Florida cattle. In the past, Florida cattlemen have shipped their animals to out-of-state feedlots for fattening. Transportation costs have driven up beef prices.

"By keeping the cattle home, we can produce beef at a cheaper price and put it in the supermarket at a cost less than beef produced elsewhere," he said.

Better quality meat was a surprise bonus of the experiment, Pate said. It showed less marbling and less fat to be trimmed away. Pate said he expects that the sugarcane-fed beef will be sought by beef lovers on low-cholesterol diets. There was no appreciable difference in the taste of the "sugar-beef" either, Pate added.

Although using sugarcane-cow-cud is popular among the farmer, Pate said widespread use is at least ten years away. Unlike their northern counterparts, South American countries have been successfully feeding their cattle sugarcane for many years, Pate said. But he added that as the price of wheat, corn and other grains increase, sugarcane will be more widely used as a forage for fattening beef cattle in the U.S.

Miami Dolphins victorious in another fourth quarter win

by Paul Pottett
JOURNAL Managing Editor

They have done it again. A 17-point fourth quarter gave Miami wins over Cincinnati and Atlanta. And a 21-point fourth quarter gave Miami a 21-16 victory over the New Orleans Saints in Sunday, Sept. 29, game action.

The Saints, marching into Miami with a 0-3 record, looked like they were going to pick up their first win of the season until the Dolphins scored 21 points in the fourth quarter to come from behind to win 21-16.

"That's not the way we like to do it, but if that's what you have to do, we'll take it. We don't want to make a season-long string of these things," said quarterback Bob Griese in an interview published before Sunday's game.

And it was Griese, coming in for rookie quarterback David Woody after the first half, who rallied the Dolphins in the second half with scoring drives of 91, 82 and 49 yards.

Miami's first score came in the fourth quarter, when they were trailing the Saints by three field goals and a Cornerback Ed Taylor intercepted an Archie Manning pass on Miami's 9 yard line with 3:30 left in the third. Twelve plays later, fullback Steve Howell went across the goal line from one yard out to make Miami's first six points.

The 91 yard drive was the longest drive the Dolphins have made since 1978. Seven minutes later, Griese connected with Ronnie Lee with a 5 yard pass which resulted in Miami's second touchdown.

With five minutes left to play, the Dolphins took possession on the Saint 49 yard line. Delvin Williams, on the first down of the series, ran for 8 yards, then a Griese 26 yard pass to Tony Nathan put the ball on the New Orleans 12. From 8 yards out, Williams went in for the score, putting the Dolphins ahead 21-16.

But the Miami advantage was threatened as the Saints, with seconds left on the clock, blocked a Miami punt, giving New Orleans the ball on the Dolphin 10. With six seconds to play, Manning hurled a pass to Ike Harris who was in the endzone. Back judge Jim Poole ruled that Harris had pushed Dolphin cornerback Don McNeal, nullifying the completion.

The Saints, who had scored on three field goals in the second quarter and a 25 yard Manning to Harris pass play in the third, had the taste of victory snatched from their mouths.

With Woody leading the Dolphins, Miami had a total of 109 yards, 48 from rushing and 61 from passing. The Saints had 60 rushing and 80 passing yards.

Woody threw 15 passes, completing four, with three interceptions.

Griese, in the second half, sparked the team in attaining 80 yards rushing and 235 yards passing.

"We feel very fortunate to somehow, some way, win this football game. Griese once again bailed us out. We're done playing musical

Gold Coast Gardener

By Gene Joyner
Urban Horticulturist
Palm Beach County

This time of year a lot of people are concerned about the advisability of doing any heavy pruning on their trees or shrubs. Although pruning varies according to the type of plant involved, there are some general recommendations that could be made for most plants.

Most flowering or fruiting plants should be pruned the most following the flowering or fruiting season. This will allow for the longest period of regrowth before the next flowering or fruiting season.

Certain plants that flower at specific seasons can only be pruned at certain times; otherwise, loss of flowers may occur. Pinetrees, for instance, cannot be trimmed back after mid September without significantly delaying flowering. Likewise, azaleas cannot be pruned very much after late September; otherwise, flowering in the spring will be eliminated or reduced.

Non-flowering plants such as hedges and general shrubbery can be pruned up until around the first of November. After that it is better to delay heavy pruning until about the first of March.

The danger of doing heavy pruning at this time of year is that plants do not have a sufficient period of time to regrow a lot of foliage. Ones that are cold tender may then experience greater damage because of insufficient foliage to protect tender inner branches.

Large trees such as ficus or shade trees should not be severely pruned after September. These take several months to regrow a new canopy and heavy pruning on those types of trees is best done in the early spring to allow for a long growing period.

Fruit trees, particularly citrus, generally will have either fruit or flowers on them almost at any time of the year so pruning on them is done any time they need it regardless of the season. Light pruning of unwanted limbs is better than a heavy cut-back type pruning on fruit trees. Severe pruning usually results in a reduction in flowering the following year. It does not affect citrus when you only remove a few branches as opposed to cutting back the entire tree.

Make sure with any plant that large cuts over an inch in diameter are sealed with a protective pruning paint to reduce insect and disease invasion.

Hedges and other small plants may be pruned back as late as mid November since they generally will regrow new growth in a short enough period of time that there would be a very small danger of their being injured by early cold weather.

If you are unsure about how to correctly prune certain plants, there are pamphlets on pruning available from your Cooperative Extension Service Office.

Pahokee Elem. holds open house

PAHOKEE—Pahokee Elementary School held its first "Open House" for parents on Tuesday, Sept. 30 from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Dr. Harris M. Blumberg, Principal, stated that "parental involvement is a priority at Pahokee Elementary School and that in the past the school has been very successful in obtaining parental support for the school."

Samples of children's work were available for parents to see, and parents were informed of students who are not on level. The teachers also explained what is being done at Pahokee Elementary school to bring up the level of children working below the standards set up by Palm Beach County School Board.

In addition to parent-teacher visitation, Ms. Carol Haller, Project Development Coordinator spoke to parents on the various services FBC offers and the need for volunteers in the local schools.

Ms. Karen Hutton, treasurer of the Parent-Teacher Organization also asked more parents to obtain membership into the organization.

Mrs. Hutton said the PTO in conjunction with the school, sponsor many activities throughout the year.

Ms. Mary Williams, guidance counselor at the school, Amos Hawkins, assistant principal and Lloyd Spiro, Title I Affective Education Counselor also appeared on the evening program.

With approximately 100 parents attending the Open House, Dr. Blumberg said it was a good feeling to see many parents in attendance.

Two killed in plane crash

A Canal Point man who had turned himself in on drug charges last week was one of two victims found in a crashed airplane, loaded with marijuana, which was one of three crashes in 24 hours connected with drugs.

Dead in the wreckage of the plane which went down in the Loxahatchee Wildlife Refuge was Charles Shannon Rewis, 38, of Canal Point, along with David L. Carolan, 24, of Fort Lauderdale, who was wanted on escape charges at the time of his death and who had also been previously arrested for drug charges.

Law enforcement officers found 1,000 pounds of marijuana in the twin engine aircraft along with Rewis and Carolan. The plane apparently crashed Sunday night and was found

Monday, the same day another airplane loaded with 600 pounds of the contraband weed was found in a sugarcane field near the route of the released SR 80. A third plane was found Tuesday on United States Sugar Corporation property east of Pahokee.

Sgt. Willie Ray Noland of the Sheriff's Office said that plane, another Piper Aztec, was found at 7:15 a.m. Tuesday by William Barnes, a USSC foreman at the Pelican Lake plantation. It was located about three miles north of the plane found Monday and Noland said the abandoned plane carried marijuana residue.

Noland said the plane had attempted to land and one wingtip had apparently penetrated the sugarcane in the field, shearing the craft into the cane.

There was a fourth airplane crash south of South Bay last Wednesday which sheriff's Office detectives are still investigating.

Rewis had turned himself in to Martin County authorities last week as one of five men indicted on drug charges in Georgia.

Beauty School Students Learn to Snip'n Tease

By WAYNE WALLACE

Fire protection, chemical sterilization, sensitivity tests, acid rinses. Must be a nuclear reactor, or maybe a chemical processing plant, right? Wrong.

It's all part of the new cosmetology course offered at West Tech Vocational School in Belle Glade. The course is designed to teach students "everything needed to pass state board examinations and get a license," according to instructor Michael Durbin. "When they get through here they will do everything they will ever do in a beauty shop," he added.

Judging from the course syllabus, Durbin is not exaggerating. The 200 day, 1200 hour course includes a 22 step manicure procedure, dispensary procedures, sterilizing methods and all the traditional beauty shop treatments from hair-cuts to facials.

The class is just beginning to take customers, Durbin said, since the girls must complete 200 hours of book and mannequin work before advancing to the real thing.

"Customers are charged only a nominal fee and each service is checked and supervised by myself," Durbin, twice runner-up hairdresser of the year, explained.

DRYING AND SETTING hair are an important part of the program. West Tech provides the students with more than 20 dryers for experimentation.

STEADY HANDS and an artistic eye are a must when it comes to shaping and styling.

"One problem, Durbin said jokingly, "is that there are no males enrolled in the course. We have to prove to the state that we openly advertised and tried to get men to enroll. I guess around here if a guy takes a cosmetology course he feels kind of funny."

But no matter who takes the course, once he or she passes the state exam Durbin said getting a job would be the easy part.

Durbin hopes to serve 35-40 customers each day so the 19 member class will have at least two customers each to snip, curl and shampoo.

The course, which began in August, costs $165, which includes a kit containing a mannequin, make-up, chemicals and other supplies. Students must be at least 16 years old with a high school diploma or an adult must have at least a tenth grade reading level to be eligible for the course.

"Our own final exam here is more difficult than the state's and once they get pass that we have a placement service to help them find the kind of job they want," Durbin said.

Though you will not find these girls working at a nuclear reactor or even a chemical processing plant, your next haircut or permanent might be in the hands of a West Tech Cosmetology graduate.

STUDENTS spend many hours on personal mannequins learning styling techniques before they are permitted to work with customers.

ALTHOUGH IT ALL cannot be learned in the book, the girls spend much of their time studying the latest techniques of hairdressing.

INSTRUCTOR Michael Durbin shows students the proper way to trim facial hair.

LEARNING TO shampoo is the most relaxing aspect of the program.

Taking It From the Top

By REV. DAVID T. EVANS
Everglades Presbyterian Church

"Waitin' for the Robert E. Lee," "Do Nothin'" til "You Hear from Me," "Wait 'til the Sun Shines..." These are all titles of songs which stretch across many years. All concern waiting for someone or something to come!

Waiting for the Second Coming of Christ is entirely different. These songs reflect a season of activity until the coming. However waiting for the second coming is a positive and active matter.

The Apostle John writes in his first letter, "Even now, my children, dwell in Him, so that when He appears we may be confident and unashamed before Him at His coming." Jesus Himself said that if His Father knows the day or the hour when He, the Son of Man, will come. Through the ages people have erroneously thought the way to wait was to sit on the hillside or mountain top.

John said abide in Christ so that when He comes we may be confident and unashamed. Paul added "...have this mind among yourselves." Live in the frame of the mind of Christ.

Live as Christ commanded. This means live in the attitude of love. Live so that people will see Christ through your actions. Live as a child of God. Paul wrote in another place, "For all who are of the Spirit of God are sons of God."

Those who act as they believe are truly children of God. When we say believe, we mean those who have accepted salvation as offered in the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

The difference is a divine love given by God - not just exhibited, but infused into us, so that it becomes the source of divine life. This love is the salvation offered in Jesus Christ, and accepted so that it is effective.

Therefore waiting for the coming of Christ is to be active as confident while living as the children of God. Living as sons and daughters of God is a present matter, not a future one. We are to keep busy doing the Father's will.

If we merely wait and wait we only become impatient and contribute nothing to carrying out the divine purpose. So much needs to be done. The word of God must be shown to the world in every level of our lives.

The reward comes in the life we live. If we are right with Christ we are right with God. Then we can be pure as God is pure. It is the privilege of the coming is the glorious part of life. Abiding in Christ will find us meeting Him confident, unashamed and ready!

Gold pass cards available

Gold Pass cards are still available to Palm Beach County senior citizens for reduced admission rates to public school activities.

The Gold Pass entitles permanent residents who have attained the age of 62 to a reduced five cents admission charge to those school activities where admission is over that amount. Included are sports events and special school presentations such as school plays, etc. The Gold Pass is available to residents of the Palm Beach County Principals' Association in cooperation with the Palm Beach County School Board.

This is one way of extending our appreciation to many of the senior citizens who serve as volunteers in our school or actively participate through courses offered in Adult and Community Education.

"We recognize as well the fact that many live on fixed incomes who would enjoy attending some of our school functions," he added.

As Florida law prohibits reduced rates for education classes, the Gold Pass cannot be used for any offerings provided by the Department of Adult and Community Education such as high school credit, general interest or community school classes.

Cook's Choice

Ms. Kathi Ligon, president of the Pahokee Business and Professional Women's Club is this weeks Cook's Choice Chef.

Kathi has selected a recipe for Banana Nut Bread that sounds delicious!

A resident of Canal Point, Kathi leads a very active life. Besides her duties as President of the Business and Professional Women Club she is also manager of the Peddler's Cart in Canal Point, and a member of the First United Methodist Church of Pahokee where she sings in the choir.

Kathi says her hobbies are centered around these involvements, and they are very exciting contrary to what the tourists to the area may think.

Eggleston completes tour

Navy Gunner's Mate 2nd Class Forrest M. Eggleston, Henry assigned to Keesler

Airman Winston W. Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neville W. Henry of 130 S.W. 16th St., South Bay, has been assigned to Keesler Air Force Base, Miss., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the fundamentals of aircraft organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

When we see snarls and tangles put before us by Satan, surely sometimes we become fearful. We begin to sink in the depths of our despair. Yet we must realize that Jesus Christ is always with us. Immediately Jesus delivers us. Surely we know that Jesus is the Son of God and He is always with us, even unto the end of the world.

Saint Augustine due Monday at Library

BELLE GLADE — The Lawrence E. Will Museum will feature the traveling exhibit entitled "Saint Augustine." Our Hispanic Heritage Preserved on Monday, Oct. 6.

The traveling exhibit at the museum is part of an outreach program initiated by Secretary of State George P. Shultz to place 19 museum exhibits on tour statewide.

The exhibit illustrates the architecture and history of Saint Augustine and promotes the heritage and beauty of America's oldest colonial city, St. Augustine.

"Saint Augustine" is one of 19 traveling exhibits placed on statewide tour by the Museum of Florida History at the request of Firestone. According to Firestone, the traveling exhibit program is designed to offer Floridians greater access to the state's cultural and historic resources.

The traveling display was assembled by the Historic St. Augustine Preservation Board and acquired by Firestone for circulation by the Museum of Florida History.

The exhibit will be on display at the Lawrence E. Will Museum through October 27. It will then continue its tour through other parts of the state.

The Florida Department of State, the Palm Beach County legislative delegation and the Lawrence E. Will Museum are co-sponsoring the exhibit's appearance in Belle Glade.

Immunizations available

— 6 weeks after the first immunization. For adolescents and children under 18 years of age, the Health Department will require a note from their private physician as to their need for receiving the immunization.

The immunization program will be initiated starting Oct. 1, at the Glades Community Health Center, 1024 N.W. Avenue "D", Belle Glade, Monday through Friday — 4 p.m.

Questions should be directed to the health center. At the health center a special form including information about the influenza vaccine, the risks and benefits, must be read before receiving the vaccine.

son of William E. and Muriel E. Eggleston celebrated his 24th birthday during this cruise. In October, the ship will commence a 28-month overseas tour in Philadelphia.

A 1977 graduate of Glades Central High School, Eggleston joined the Navy in August 1977.
